NEW LONDONER'S REMARKS

MAY GET HIM INTO TROUBLE Talkative Mr. Clark, Offering Odds in Germany's Favor, Locked Up.

An unknown man, who says that his name is Clark and that he halls from New London, is locked up at the police station for uttering seditious remarks about the United States. He refused to give his first name.

The trouble occurred in Hyman Israel's lunch room, when Edward Mitchell started telling another man goout the marvelous work done by the Italians. Clark said, 'Germany is going to win." He was told to shut to, but offered to bet $10 to that effect, and later advised the two men whe were talking to get all the monfect, and later advised the two men who were talking to get all the money they could, and he would bet with them. Mitchell says that Clark made the betting offer about six times. Thinks were taking turn which left Mitchell in a very unpleasant mood, as all of his ancestors took part in America's wars on the right side, and he would be fighting now but he has passed the half century mark. When he went out, he net Chief Killourey and told him of the conversation. The chief talked with Clark, who denied that he said such things, but several witnesses said he did. He was taken to the police stadid. He was taken to the police sta-tion and will be taken to Hartford or the dealt with in the police court.
